

NORTHEASTERN UNIVERSITY

Engaged with the World

Founded in 1898, Northeastern is a global research university and a leader in experiential learning, offering students opportunities for professional work, research, service, and learning in 133 countries on seven continents. We build our solutions-focused research on the foundational themes of health, security, and sustainability—the global challenges that define the path to sustainable human communities.

By aligning our strengths in globally networked learning and experiences, Northeastern is leading a new approach to higher education, one that empowers humans to be agile learners, thinkers, and creators.
